> Note that this chapter is half-testing chapter. basically, I am just testing the waters, do mind that i left project sekai for like several months, so some things may seem off

At Ichika's room:

As she finishes composing for a new song on her notes, she then opened her laptop and opened the messaging app to notify her friends.

Group Chat

Ichika: Guys, I finally finished composing for our new song.

Saki: Really?

Ichika: Yes, i think it's best for us to talk about it in the SEKAI.

Honami: That's great. We'll see you there.

Saki: I'll go there later.

---- Group chat ended-----

As she reached out her phone, suddenly it glitched red for a second, then went back to normal.

Ichika: Huh?

Ichika, of course. Surprised that just happened out of nowhere, but then shrugged it off, opened the music player, and wore her headset, then as she hits play. Suddenly, the sound that was not something she's familiar with, which is an understatement. The audio was shrieking loud, that can be described as multiple souls screaming. As she tried to remove her headset from her hears, she suddenly couldn't move her body, and then Ichika dropped on the floor. Her body, unresponsive.

And as she moved her eyes below, she can see her lower body swallowed by a mysterious red cube, she's extremely panicking, didn't know what to do. She wanted to scream for help but it felt like her throat didn't want her to scream. Alarm bells already ringing left and right on her thoughts on what to do, but alas, she was swallowed as a whole, then vanished...

Then the phone went back to normal and is now playing the School sekai song, but Ichika is no longer there.

She's gone.

Swallowed by a mysterious red cube.

To the unknown.

At Backstage:

Tsukasa was brainstorming inside his room for improvement on his part on the upcoming play, and he thinks that he could do better.

But he needed someone to receive some feedback. After all, he wanted the upcoming play to be perfect than the last.

So, he decided to pull up his phone to go to the Wonderland Sekai for a bit. But then suddenly, his phone glitched red again for a second and went back to normal.

Tsukasa: Huh?

But he decides to ignore it, because he really wanted to get some feedback. As he plugged in his headset, then opened the music app and pressed play. Instead of the usual Wonderland sekai music, it was something way worse. The audio again, same thing that got to Ichika, played to his ears. But for him, it felt like the devil screamed loudly to his ears and for him, it was way too loud. He then immediately collapsed on the floor with a loud thud. He can't move his body, nor even can remove the headphones from his ear.

As he looked at his hands, it was now being engulfed by a red mysterious cube, and Tsukasa wanted to scream for help, but couldn't. However, someone entered the backstage and it was Rui and Emu, which then saw that Tsukasa is being engulfed by a mysterious cube.

Emu/Rui: TSUKASA!

He really wanted to yell to them both to help him, but it's like he no longer had his voice.

Rui tried to remove the headsets, but suddenly, the cube suddenly set Rui, few meters away and with his back got hit in the metal pole, but not really severely. Like the cube didn't want to disturb that it's literally trying to engulf him.

Emu then quickly went to assess Rui to check on him. But by then, it was too late. Tsukasa is now being fully engulfed by the mysterious red cube. Then vanished mid-air.

Rui, saw his friend, just gone. Like dust.

Tsukasa Tenma... is no longer here.

And Emu Otori, was beyond shocked, traumatized even.

And Tsukasa's phone, suddenly went back to normal, playing the Wonderland SEKAI music.

At Haruka's Home

She's currently taking a break in her home. Done working at her homework and now pulling up her phone to go to the Stage SEKAI since her friends are currently waiting for her.

But as she looked at her phone, it suddenly glitched red and then went back to normal for a quick second. Haruka of course was certainly spooked about it, but ignored the warning, nonetheless.

After that, she pulled out her earbuds and then paired it on her device, then opened the music app, and played the song. But instead, the usual Stage sekai music, it's just a deafening and screeching sound. Haruka, then collapsed on the floor, unable to move her body, she wanted to scream for help too. But she then got quickly engulfed, faster than Ichika and Tsukasa, then vanished, with no signs at all, except her earbuds now on the ground.

And then, her phone went back playing the Stage Sekai music.

But no Haruka

At Mafuyu's House

She was preparing to go to the Empty Sekai on her phone, after finishing her work. But then, the same as the rest of the characters, pulled out her phone then suddenly it glitched out with color red a few seconds then went back to normal.

She thought, she was imagining things, so she decided to instead go to sleep.

But as she tried to go to her bed, her phone suddenly glows red and then suddenly floated around. Which caused Mafuyu to guard up. But then unexpectedly, the phone shot a red beam onto her chest causing to getting slowly consumed by the red cube and then her phone dropped like it was nothing. Now, Mafuyu, in tears because she's in pain, she screamed for help, which then her parents burst through her door.

Mafuyu's mother was shocked at what she just saw, their daughter, now being consumed by a mysterious cube, Mafuyu's mom and her dad quickly rushed in to help but was sent away to the wall then dropped on the floor.

Now, Mafuyu's arms and legs suddenly shuts down, causing her to fall onto the floor, she can't move her body anymore, and she's getting wrapped around very fast, until she disappeared.

Mafuyu's mom cried and screamed for her now missing daughter.

It felt for her like it was somehow a dream to her, but no.

Mafuyu's gone, and no one can easily explain what happened to her.

The God's Wrath

Chapter Notes

> Chronological plots of Genshin Impact will be followed, but the dialogue “word-per-word” will not. With reasons I basically have less time to work on this fiction work

See the end of the chapter for more notes

> It seems that the Gods even chose a foreign variable into the swirling chaos. Oh. how the gods are merciless.

The Travellers, Lumine and Aether, are in the heavens above, seeking another world to go into.

As they walked straight. They were quickly surprised by an Unknown figure, stood in front of them.

?: Outlanders, your journey ends here...

The figure then used her skill which looked like those red cube things to try capture both of the siblings. But both of them quickly dodged just in time and quickly retracted their Sword and Wings to fight the unknown god to stop her. Both sprinted directly to stop the unknown enemy. But the Figure summoned more red cube things to try to stop them, but the siblings keeps dodging and trying to outmaneuver the projectiles, until they found an opening, to which they are now giving the Unknown god a hit blow. But then, suddenly. The unknown figure blasted the twins away before they could hit her, and her cubes finally landed on Lumine, to which then she was engulfed and disappeared.

Aether, shocked. Her sister was now nowhere to be seen. So, she faced the unknown figure and looked straight to her eyes with anger.

Aether: You're dead.

He then speedboosted himself to try to hit the Unknown figure again, but then she quicklydeploys her cubes in all of the direction, which a few moments later, Aether got quickly caught, then engulfed.

The figure's expression wore an uncertainty. Like she’s being worried or something…

After that commotion, we get a time skip where Aether at the beach, trying to tell a story about his arrival in teyvat to Paimon.

Paimon: So now you’re trying to look for your sister?

Aether: Yes. I need to find my sister.

Paimon: I see. Well then, ill be as your tour guide as a repayment for saving me.

Aether chuckled and nodded softly .

Paimon: Well! Since we’re in Mondstadt, the land of wind, freedom and wine. We should ask for Barbatos’ blessing since they’re the ones governing Mondstadt. But first, how about we should go to Starfell Lake, there’s a statue of seven over there. We should DEFINITELY get the blessings’ of the anemo archon!

Aether: Ok, let’s go…

Several minutes later, they finally made it to the Starfell Lake, where the City of Mondstadt can be seen in the distance. There's also the statue of the Seven adding the aesthetic of the view.

Paimon: Look, there's the statue of the seven! Let's go and take a closer look!

Both of them headed to the Starfell lake, killed all the hilichurls and got close to the statue

As he reached his hand to the statue, it felt like the spirit of the anemo archon decided to bestow Aether, the power of the Anemo.

Paimon was shocked that a statue alone gave him the Anemo powers without a vision, because usually it doesn't work that way. She then explains the concept of Visions to Aether.

Suddenly, a blue dragon flew over them for some reason and headed to the forest.

Aether: was that a dragon?

Paimon: I think so? We should head to the City and ask about it...

After that, they went to Whispering woods, en route to the City of Mondstadt. But as they were in the middle of the Whispering woods, they saw the same dragon alongside a human figure, with a lyre on her hand. Paimon and Aether quickly hid to a nearby wood to see what they are doing…

And as they peeked, they could not hear what they were saying but they thought that the human figure was taming a dragon.

And which Paimon asked

Paimon: What are they doing? Are they taming the dragon or something?

Just as Aether try to respond, his Anemo power decides to go haywire which causes the Dragon to be irritated and then flew away.

???: Dvalin! Come Back!!!

The figure then suddenly disappeared out of nowhere, turning their traces filled with dandelions.

Paimon: Oh crap, we really managed to interfere with that one… Also what happened back there?

Aether: My anemo powers just suddenly went haywire on me for some reason. Sigh We should focus on our goals now.

Paimon: You're right… Let's go.

And so they went on to the Monstadt City to try looking for the whereabouts of her sister…

Meanwhile at Celestia

We can see the Unknown God looking at the cube, and inside where four people that we know. Mafuyu Asahina, Tsukasa Tenma, Ichika Hoshino, and Haruka Kiritani, floating inside the cube.

The Unknown God tapped the cube that imprisoned the four inside and they all suddenly woke up.

They then were confused as to see each other.

Ichika: Eh? Mafuyu!

Mafuyu: Ichika?

Ichika: Eh? Mafuyu?

Tsukasa: Ichika?

Ichika: Eh? You're Saki's brother!

Unknown God: Outlanders… Your journey ends here

All of them looked at the direction of the voice to see a huge figure with her. Tsukasa almost pissed his pants hearing her booming voice because he was startled.

Ichika: W-what do you mean our journey ends here? Who are you?

Asmoday: I am Asmoday the Ruler of Space, and you possess something a device that would transport you to other worlds and back on what you call "sekai" and I am now putting an end to it.

Tsukasa: Eh? Sekai?

Ichika: Wait… does that mean….

Asmoday: Four of you have something that violates the Heavenly Principles. As far as I know, all 20 of you have something that also violates the rules of the Heavenly Principles, and I only pick four of you as a signal to the rest of the violators that they should not break the rules again…

Ichika thought and looked around, there were 4 of them currently trapped right now, which she recognizes that they were a part of Nightcord, More More Jump, Wonderlands X Showtime, and herself the LeoNeed, and her thoughts were interrupted by Asmoday

Asmoday: I'll make sure that the other one which they call themselves “Vivid Bad Squad” will get the same message soon enough…

Finally, Ichika was able to fit the puzzle, at least a portion of it. She needs to know what grounds of violation did they commit.

Ichika: Uhh? Miss Asmoday? On what grounds exactly did we violate again?

Asmoday looked at Ichika and closed her eyes.

Asmoday: Typical Sinners, they themselves don’t realize what their doing is a mistake. However, ill just get rid of you insolent insects.

As Asmoday snapped her fingers, four of them were quickly engulfed by the cubes again, Ichika, Mafuyu, Tsukasa and, Haruka panicked with Tsukasa visibly tweaking out and then the four disappeared.

Few moments later, a figure showed up. It’s Hatsune Miku, but her looks wildly differ from any Miku that readers encountered in Project Sekai. Her twintail was colored dark red but was glittering white, and forming some form of random constellations, her hairclips were instead shaped octagon and it’s spinning. Her dress is also adorned with a white gown, which at the bottom of her dress were dark velvet colored with some constellation symbol, which shaped as a leek floating around.

Hatsune Miku(?): You really sent them off to Mondstadt.

Asmoday: Yes, Hatsune Miku. Also, you said that you would choose one from the group on what you call them, Vivid Bad Squad. Did you choose someone now?

Hatsune Miku(?): Shinonome Akito. Though he will be best paired with the Abyss Princess, does it?

Asmoday sighed to Hatsune Miku's(?) response. Asmoday just wanted the loop of chaos to end, but everytime she tried to find a way to save Teyvat, it's basically all the same, chaos really ensured. However, she decided to ask for an external help, without the knowledge of the shades. And that's how Hatsune Miku(?) came in to play. She accepted her deal by giving Asmoday four people to save Teyvat in exchange that she will decide only one would side with the abyss.

Plus, Asmoday felt slightly guilty for sending the five of them to Tevyat, even though they weren't violating any rules at all. But she also thought, it would be for the best of Teyvat.

Hatsune Miku(?): It will surely be interesting for sure. Go ahead and grab Akito then and send him to the past.

End.

Chapter End Notes

The whole story ordeal had to shift a bit since I could not come up more with the original plan, so this is what ends up.
